

- 12 -

Abstract

The present invention relates to a barrier coating composition which is characterized in that it comprises a polymeric material and at least one inorganic flake material, its use as well as to a device, preferably a display, comprising a barrier coating layer, which is characterized in that the barrier coating layer comprises a barrier coating composition of the present invention.

10

15

20

25

30

35